INTELLIGENT APPLICATION LAUNCHING AND FILE MANAGEMENT UTILITY

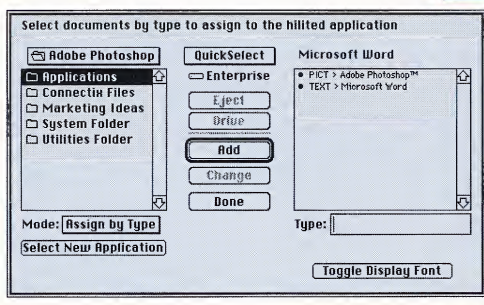

COLOR DEPTH & SOUND LEVEL

Many graphics programs need 8- or 32-bit color to be useful while others will simply be slowed down by supporting this level of screen detail. Certain applications may require specific levels of color resolution to run at all. (Or maybe you just need to turn down the sound on all the games at your office!) HAND-Off will automatically recall and adjust the color depth and sound level to your preferred setting as you switch from application to application or when you launch new applications.

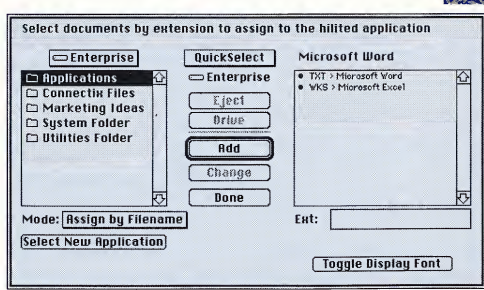

ON-THE-FLY SUBSTITUTION

HAND-Off eliminates the "Application Not Found" message the Finder displays when you open a document whose application is not on your system. If the Finder can not find the original application to open your documents, HAND-Off will intercede and ask you to select a compatible substitute application. From then on HAND-Off will automatically use this surrogate application for all files of that type. Later, if the original creator application is loaded on the system, HAND-Off will revert to using it for opening these documents.

AUTOMATIC DOS LAUNCHES

Many DOS files can be opened with compatible Macintosh applications. On-the-fly substitution will work with these documents as well. HAND-Off remembers the association between DOS file name extensions and your Mac applications for simple double-click launch of your DOS documents. For example, you can assign files ending in ".TXT" or ".ASC" (or other text files) to your favorite word processor, or send ".WKS" or ".WK1" files to your Mac spreadsheet.

POP-UP MENUS

HAND-Off gives you direct access to all of your favorite applications at all times. Just pull down the Pop-Up menu from either corner of the menu bar or with a keystroke. Then double-click to launch the program you want, or open an associated document from the hierarchical side menu. HAND-Off locates applications even if they are moved or their name has been changed, which frequently happens when new versions are installed.

BRIEFCASES

If you routinely use a particular set of documents as a group, you may define a "briefcase" of those items and open all of them with one click. For example, all the spreadsheets, letters, and schedules related to a budgeting project, or all the graphic and text elements associated with a specific desktop publishing project can be assigned a single name so they can be launched together from the pop-up menu.
